1983-84 Terps

Continuing a Tradition

of Leadership

Depth and balance are the keys as the Maryland Women's Basketball Team strives to continue a tradition of leadership and excellence. The Terrapin tradition includes two trips to the national tournament's final four and top ten ranking at the end of the past six seasons. Maryland has appeared in all 111 top twenty polls since its inception in 1976, the only team in the nation to do so. Last season Coach Chris Weller took her Terps to their fifth of six possible ACC Titles and on to regional play in the NCAA Tournament. Ranked seventh in Women's Sports' pre-season poll and fifteenth in Street and Smith's, the 1983-84 squad is a group of young, but talented players striving for a trip to Los Angeles and the final four.

Gone from last season are the Terps' steals leader, Debbie Lytle; Maryland's first Kodak All-American in Jasmina Perazic, and Lea Hakala, last year's leading rebounder. Perazic and Hakala are currently leading the Yugoslavian and Finnish National teams respectively. Excellence in international competition is yet another part of the Terrapin tradition.

Eight lettermen—two seniors, two juniors and four sophomores—return from last year's 26-5 squad.

Senior co-captains Belinda Pearman and Marcia Richardson lead the returning cast. Pearman, the Terps second leading returning scorer, is versatile enough to play both the forward and center positions. "Boe" is among the school's top ten in both scoring and rebounding with averages of 10.2 points and 4.5 caroms last year.

Richardson might be one of the shortest Terrapins but she came up with some big games last season. The team's leading scorer in post season play in '83, she averaged 15.4 points on the season. Only the second junior in Maryland history to hit the 1,000 point mark, she should become the top all-time leading women's scorer in Maryland's strong program by the season's end. Richardson was MVP of the Syracuse Classic and named to the Drake Harvest Classic All-Tournament Team last season and was named on the Kodak All District III Team.

Juniors Julie Silverberg and Dorothy Smith bring valuable post-season experience to an otherwise young squad. Silverberg, an aggressive guard, should see considerable action in the backcourt this season. Smith, at 6'2" will add depth to what looks to be a strong frontcourt.

The underclassmen give Coach Weller the depth and all around quality needed for a championship season. Sophomores Chequita Wood and Chris Vera should fill the gaps left by the departed Perazic and Lytle. Wood established herself as the number six player last season and led the team in rebounding in the ACC Tournament. Vera is a true point guard with the quickness and ball control needed to head the offense.

6'2" Center Bonnie Baker and forward Monica Gannon will contribute much to the Terps inside play. Baker is a hustling team player with a knack for blocking shots. Gannon has greatly improved her shot and plays aggressively at both ends of the floor.

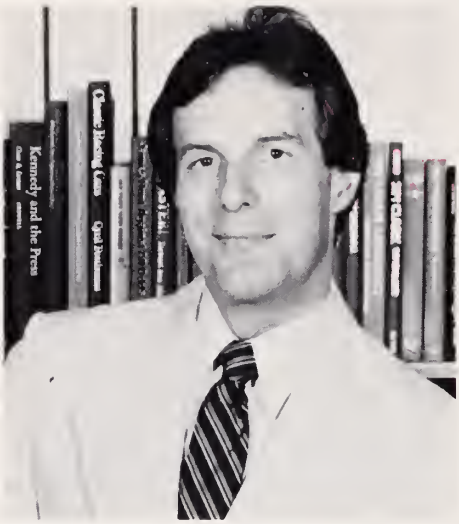
Joining the returning cast are three talented freshmen and junior college transfer Clara Faison. Faison is a highly lauded All-American from Louisburg (N.C.) Junior College. This talented forward led Louisburg to NJCAA Final Four in her freshman and sophomore years and was noted offensive player of the year in that tournament in 1983.

Coach Weller pulled two more top forwards into the program in Jonette Niles and Sydney Beasley. Niles averaged 22 points and 15 rebounds in leading Westbury (N.Y.) High to a state title last year and was named to the NEW YORK DAILY NEWS All Star Team. Her conversion to the guard position will add strength and quickness to the Maryland perimeter game.

Beasley, from Potomac High in nearby Oxon Hill, MD. won an All-Metropolitan selection and was twice player of the year in Prince Georges County. She was part of the East squad at the Sports Festival in Boulder, Colo. indicating her potential to be one of the top freshmen players in the country.

6'4" center Zaga Pocekovic comes to Maryland from the Yugoslavian Junior National Team. Named the top junior player in Europe last year, Zaga's international experience should allow her to make an immediate contribution to the team. She gives the Terps the size and scoring punch in the middle that is needed to compete at the nation's top level.

Athletic Director



Richard Michael "Dick" Dull

Director of Athletics

Dick Dull is the chief administrator of an extremely successful Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. His first two years as Director of Athletics were marked by both high achievement in intercollegiate competition and financial stability.

The Athletic Department is a self supporting unit within the University operating with a five million dollar budget. Since Dull assumed the reigns in 1981 the Department has operated in the black. In addition to supporting 22 varsity teams, the Department is responsible for the operation and maintenance of an 18 hole golf course and driving range. Other facilities include Cole Field House, Byrd Stadium, Shipley Field, two football practice fields and an artificial turf all-purpose practice field. In addition there are facilities for Intercollegiate Soccer, Women's Field Hockey, Lacrosse and Tennis. The Department has over 90 employees.

Dull assumed the duties of Director of Athletics on August 1, 1981. He was appointed by the Board of Regents on June 19, 1981.

He initially came to Maryland as a student-athlete from Biglerville High in Pennsylvania. He received his Bachelor of Arts as a Political Science major in 1967 and moved on to the Maryland School of Law, receiving his Doctor of Law degree in 1971.

As a high school track star (javelin), Dull was Pennsylvania High School Champion in 1961, the Pennsylvania Jaycee State Chyampion in 1963 and the PIAA State runner-up in 1963. In 1965 he was the National Junior AAU Champion.

While at Maryland he was ACC Champion, Penn Relay Champion and ACC-SEC Champion. He also placed eighth in the National AAU Championships and the NCAA Championships. His best competitive throw was 251 feet.

Dull worked his way through the department he started in as a student athlete in 1964. Since joining the Maryland Athletic Department his duties have encompassed everything from coaching on the field to scheduling, supervising and administering non-revenue sports, serving as liaison with the Office of Financial Aid, supervising and administering the Business Office of Intercollegiate Athletics and reorganizing the former Department of Women's Intercollegiate Athletics into the Office of Non-Revenue Sports.

Since taking over as Athletic Director he has reorganized the promotions department with staff members serving as Director of Marketing and Director of Sales and initiated new Athletic Department publications designed to whet the appetite of sports fans interested in Maryland Athletics.

Maintaining financial solvency at a time of rising expenses and peak competition for the entertainment dollar was the biggest challenge facing Dull on arrival. His forming of a departmental advisory group to take input and serve a liaison's role has done much to promote communication at all levels.

The outlook for 1983 is bright. An aggressive promotional program, successful fund raising programs, successful recruiting ventures and exciting competition against the best teams available all contribute to expectations for another year of national rankings and a balanced budget.

Dull holds Bar memberships with the Court of Appeals of Maryland and the Federal Court for District of Maryland. He served from June 1971 to June 1973 as Attorney at Law, Legal Aid Bureau in Baltimore, MD and from June 1973 to January 1975 as Attorney at Law with the University of Southern California, National Senior Citizens Law Center. While with USC he served for a period as the Acting Director of the Washington office.

Head Coach

Chris Weller

Head Basketball Coach

The 1981-82 squad gave Coach Weller her fifth 20 + victory season at 25-7. Highlights included an Orange Plus Tournament Championship at Syracuse, a fourth ACC title, the NCAA West Regional crown, an appearance in the first ever NCAA Final Four National Championship Tournament and a 3rd place national finish.

Blending youth and internationally experienced players, Weller took her 1982-83 squad to more post-season play and a 26-5 record. Season championships at the Drake Harvest Classic and the Syracuse Classic preceded the school's fifth ACC title. The Terrapins went on to the East Regional Tournament of the NCAA playoffs before losing to Old Dominion. They finished the season ranked sixth nationally.

As a member of the University Class of '66, Weller played four years of varsity basketball serving as team captain two of them. She also was on the Maryland Swim Team for two years and played on the school's first woman's lacrosse squad. Following graduation she taught physical education for seven years at nearby John F. Kennedy High School in Silver Spring, MD. As a teacher she coached basketball, gymnastics, track, tennis and lacrosse.

Weller returned to Maryland in 1973 and served as assistant basketball coach working with the Junior Varsity program. She took over her Varsity position in 1975. In 1976 Weller took on greater leadership at the University being appointed Assistant Athletic Director for Women's Sports, a position she held until 1980. In four years with the administration she was instrumental in building one of the finest women's athletic programs in the nation.

In nine years as head coach of the woman's basketball team at the University of Maryland Chris Weller has established for herself a tradition of leadership. Respected by her players and peers alike, Coach Weller holds many personal honors to go with an eight year record of 177-51 at Maryland. Four times nominated for Coach of the Year honors, she has been a finalist on three ocassions. Weller has served as a coach on the national level at the AIAW - Hanes All-American Classic and the National Sports Festival in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

By serving on national committies Coach Weller's uses her leadership to benefit woman's basketball throughout the nation. She has served three years on the Kodak All-American Committee and spent four as a member of the EAIAW Basketball Committee. Two years of that time with EAIAW were as Chairperson or National Representative. At the grassroots level, Weller is popular as a speaker at coaching clinics and has attracted hundreds of girls to her summer basketball camp the past seven summers.

Maryland's tradition of leadership is based on the successful program built by Coach Weller since returning to her alma mater. After leading Maryland to its first 20 victory season as interim coach in 1975, Weller took over the head coach's position. Finishing out the 1975-76 season at 20-4, the Terrapins placed fourth in the EAIAW Regional Tournament and won the Maryland State Championship. Maryland again placed fourth in the region in 1976-77 and finished the season with a 17-6 record, ranked 13th in the nation.

The 1977-78 campaign was the most successful season ever for a Maryland basketball team. Finishing the year with a 27-4 record, Coach Weller's Terrapins won the first ACC Women's Championship and were runners-up in both the EAIAW Regional the AIAW National Tournament, ending the season ranked second in the nation.

Weller's third 20+ victory season came in the 1978-79 season, as the Terps turned in a 22-7 record. The season was highlighted by winning the 1st Orange Bowl Women's Classic Tournament, the ACC Championship for the second time, a second place finish in the EAIAW Regionals, and a trip to the AIAW National Tournament for the second year in a row. The Terps finished the year ranked 6th in the nation.

With only one starter returning from the 1978-79 squad, critics claimed that Maryland would falter. The critics were hushed as the Terps turned in their third consecutive 20 win season with a 21-9 record and a Sixth Place National Ranking as Weller led the Terps to their first ever EAIAW Regional crown and to the AIAW quarter finals.

Dubbed a 'centerless' squad, Coach Weller's 1980-81 Terps surprised most observers as they finished 19-9, captured her third ACC Championship in four years, advanced to te quarterfinals of the national tournament for the fourth consecutive season, and received a ranking in the top eight for the fourth straight year.

Assistant Coaches

Sue Gorsuch

Sue begins her fourth season as assistant coach to Chris Weller. Like Coach Weller, she is a Maryland alumna, receiving her B.S. degree in Physical Education in 1973. While attending Maryland she was a member of the basketball team for four years, the volleyball team for three and a member of the lacrosse squad for one season.

Following graduation, the Frederick County, MD native began teaching and coaching at nearby Sherwood High School. An eight year stay at Sherwood saw Gorsuch coach volleyball, track and basketball.

At Maryland her duties include scouting, recruiting, organizing clinics throughout the state and assisting with the summer camp.

June begins her second season as a Terrapin assistant since removing the scarlet red of Rutgers to don the Maryland red and white.

A 1982 graduate of Rutgers University (Physical Education), June played opposite the Terps for four seasons in some intense regional match-ups. The summer prior to her college career's start she played for Coach Weller's East squad at the United States Sports Festival in Colorado Springs. She represented the country internationally at the World Games and in several other events.

While at Rutgers she was a four year starter and is the Lady Knights all-time career scorer with 1500 points. She also collected 780 career rebounds and co-captained the 1981-82 team to the AIAW National Championship. Capping off her outstanding senior year was her selection to the first team Kodak-AIAW and WBCA (Women's Basketball Coaches Association) All-American squads.

A native of Philadelphia, June graduated from St. Maria Goretti High School in Philadelphia.

Sandy Worth
Women's Trainer

Sandy Worth begins her tenth year as head trainer for the ten women's Varsity sports at Maryland. A graduate of Maryland (1973), Sandy holds a B.S. in Physical Education.

Sandy was a Terrapin athlete, playing field hockey and basketball for four years. She became interested in the training field when she suffered an injury. Fortunately, it was not a debilitating one and she was able to continue playing until graduation. Upon returning to the lineup she continued in a dual capacity as player and student trainer.

Now, certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association (N.A.T.A.), Sandy heads the women's training staff, coordinating the women student-trainers.

Jo Bagelmann
Director
Sports Marketing

Jo Bagelmann, into her fifth year with the University of Maryland's Athletic Department, officially assumed her duties as Director of Sports Marketing in the fall of 1983. Prior to this assignment she held the position of Assistant to the Director of Sports Marketing and of secretary for non-revenue sports.

A native of Bowling Green, Ohio, Jo graduated from Bowling Green State University in 1962 with a B.S. in Health and Physical Education. In addition to coordinating the marketing aspect of the athletic department, Jo also supervises an internship program within her office.

Part of the Maryland leadership tradition is helping prepare players for competition on the international level. International competition tests the athlete to his or her extreme. The pressure of the actual competition is sometimes less than that experienced during team tryouts. In any event, representing one's country is both an honor and a reward to the long hours spent working on developing the athletic skills that ranks the athlete among the best in the world. Several Terrapins, past and present have received such recognition.

Among these is Tara Heiss, the Terps first 1,000 + career scorer. Maryland's starting point guard for three seasons, Heiss can best be remembered for the 1977-78 senior campaign which saw her team capture the first ACC Women's Championship and reach the final game of the National Championship Tournament, ending the year 27-4, ranked second in the nation.

In the summer of '78 Heiss was selected to the 12 player U.S. Women's team that toured the Orient, and was the only American chosen to the Big-Four All-Tournament team. In November of the same year she was again selected to play for the U.S. National team against the People's Republic of China National Touring Team in Madison Square Garden.

In April of 1979, Heiss was selected to the U.S. Pan American squad that won its first World Women's Basketball Championship since 1957, in Seoul. In that tournament, Heiss was voted the most popular player. Heiss realized a major achievement when she was named to the 1980 United States Olympic women's basketball squad.

Kris Kirchner, a three year starter for Maryland and the Terps all-time career scorer and rebounder, also boasts tremendous international experience. Prior to attending the University of Maryland (1977), Kirchner was selected to the U.S. Jr. Pan Am Team that toured Mexico City and won the "Cristobal Colon Cup". The following summer (1978) she was part of the U.S. National Team that journeyed to the VIII Bulgarian Federation Tournament in Burgas, Bulgaria.

In 1979 she was chosen to the U.S. Pan Am team, traveling to the Far East and to Puerto Rico. The summer of 1980 saw Kirchner join former teammate Heiss on the U.S. Olympic team which played exhibition games in Switzerland, France and Italy and was the winner of a pre-Olympic Tournament among 23 countries in Varna, Bulgaria.

Jane Zivalich, a four year letter winner at Maryland, was selected in 1977 to play on the United States Junior Pan-Am team in a tournament in Taiwan. A knee injury sustained in the semi-finals of the 1978 AIAW Championships kept her out of additional international competition.

Krystal Kimrey, who captained the Terrapins during the 1979-80 season, also gained international experience while at Maryland. She spent two summers touring Europe playing for the Athletes in Action team.

A two year standout forward for the Terps, Debbie Jones, played for the 1978 U.S. Select Team. A transfer from Pitt, Jones helped pace Maryland to their second place national ranking her senior year and is currently listed 10th on the all-time rebounding list with 412.

The Terps 1981-82 co-captain, Myra Waters was selected to the Mid-West Junior Women's Basketball squad that attended the 1978 Olympic Festival in Colorado. She was then selected to the U.S. Junior team that was to tour Peru.

Jasmina Perazic, a Terrapin from 1979 to 1983, is a leader on the Yugoslavian National team as well as in Maryland record books. A past Olympic competitor, she led her team to top spot in the European Games this year and was named MVP in the championship. She was the tournament's leading scorer shooting 60% from the floor and 90% from the line (26 ppg) and the second leading rebounder.

Senior Marcia Richardson was selected to participate as a member of the East Squad in the summer of 1981 at the National Sports Festival in Syracuse. After a successful tournament she was one of 12 players selected to the Junior National team that toured Yugoslavia. In the summer of '82, the current Terrapin again went international, playing in the Jones Cup Tournament for the U.S. National Team.

Another current player, junior Julie Silverberg, played in the 1981 Maccabean Games. Lea Hakala, a forward on last year's squad is currently competing for the Finnish National Team in international competition.

International Players serve as a great inspiration to everyone involved in Intercollegiate Athletics. They also bring back greater leadership skills to their individual college's program as well as promoting the sport at the highest level of achievement.

WHERE IT HAPPENS

The University of Maryland is located in what is definitely the place in the United States for leadership and tradition.

Only nine miles from our nation's capital, College Park is close enough to allow student interaction with the country's political and business leaders. In addition, the great port city of Baltimore is only a 35 minute drive from campus. The 40 mile Baltimore-Washington corridor is one of the richest concentrations of resources and intellectual leadership in the world today.

For the student, many of the country's best research facilities are within easy reach: the Library of Congress, the Shakespeare Library, the National Library of Medicine and the Department of Agriculture's facilities to name a few.

In addition to traditional scholarly materials, all around College Park are the kinds of cultural opportunities and entertainment that only a major metropolitan area can provide. Washington's famous Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts houses a concert hall, opera house and theatres, is home of the National Symphony Orchestra and headquarters of the American Film Institute. Art galleries and theatrical companies abound downtown and in the cultural haven of D.C.'s Georgetown.

A strong sense of neighborhood identity, varied ethnic populations, industrial complexes and lively cultural life make the city of Baltimore an attractive neighbor to Washington. Among its many attractions are the frigate Constellation—the first ship of the U.S. Navy, historic Fort McHenry and Francis Scott Key's "Star Spangled Banner", and the ethnic fare of the huge Lexington Market and Inner Harbor areas.

Along with the leaders of these two metropolitan areas, the University's residents are able to interact with county officials. The University is located in Prince George's County, an area growing and expanding opportunities faster than any other county in the nation.

In this area of exceptional opportunities, College Park's relationship with the corridor's resources is not just one of proximity. Close working relationships have developed over the years between College Park and some of the country's most important agencies and institutions, from NASA to the Smithsonian to the Kennedy Center.

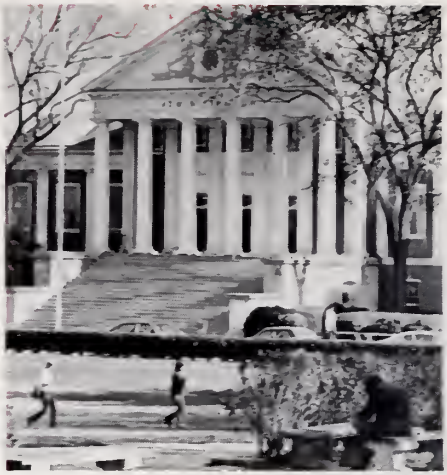
The University's tradition of building leaders is strengthened by its position amidst the nation's finest in that role.

The University of Maryland

College Park, flagship of the University of Maryland system, is one of five campuses. The other four campuses are: Baltimore County in suburban Catonsville, Eastern Shore in Princess Anne, Baltimore City, and University College, which offers continuing education in the state and overseas.

The university currently enrolls some 80,000 students and annually confers some 12,000 degrees — about one quarter of which are graduate and professional diplomas. Its students may choose from more than 300 major programs of study. The full-time faculty, with advanced degrees and prior experience drawn from virtually every major center of learning, numbers nearly 3,000. Part-time faculty and teaching assistants boost the university's instructional staff to more than 6,000 members.

The College Park campus, with over 27,500 undergraduate and 7,000 graduate students, is the largest in the university's system. Founded in 1856 as the Maryland Agriculture College, the school today ranks as one of the largest in the nation. It offers more than 110 undergraduate majors and 80 graduate degree programs and includes ten colleges and professional schools as well as the headquarters for the Agricultural Experiment Station. The McKeldin and Hornbake Libraries together with a number of specialty libraries provide student and faculty members with reference works, periodicals, books and other materials in the field of research and instruction. The Hornbake alone can seat over 4,000 readers.



The university's medical, dental, nursing, law, pharmacy, social work and community planning programs are centered at the Baltimore City campus. There too are Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services (Shock Trauma Center) and the 800-bed University of Maryland Hospital, both of which serve the community and the state.

UMBC, the Baltimore County campus, offers undergraduate studies: arts and humanities, life sciences, education, mathematics and physics, and social sciences. In addition, UMBC offers selected graduate degree programs especially in the life sciences.

The university's Eastern Shore Campus focuses on liberal arts, pre-professional, and cooperative studies and has a special honors program that allows its graduates to continue in the medical school. Facilities for the Agricultural Experiment Station and the Cooperative Capital Extension Service are also located on this campus.

The other major components of the university are the Center for Environmental and Estuarine Studies, where research and public service projects deal in part with the biology and ecology of Maryland and the Chesapeake Bay, and the Cooperative Extension Service, the statewide service that provides helpful information on agriculture, home economics, and ways to improve living conditions for people of all ages.

As the state's land grant institution (and one of the nation's emerging sea grant universities), Maryland's mission is to teach, engage in research, and provide related services to the state, nation, and world. In particular, the university exists to help individuals to help themselves and to contribute to the advancement of society.

COLE FIELD HOUSE

The athletic facilities at Maryland University are among the finest in the nation.

Cole Field House, center of the Terrapin Athletic program, is home of the women's basketball team. Built in 1955, it is one of the most famous landmarks on campus. One of the largest facilities on the east coast, the 14,500 seat arena is a prime site for national and international competition.
